

TERRE PROMISE

ROSÉ 2018

AOC CÔTES DE PROVENCE

THE APPELLATION

The Appellation Côtes de Provence extends for over 20 000 hectares. The terroir of the Côtes de Provence appellation is as beautiful for its vines as it is at their roots. The sub-soil represents complex geology that is particularly conducive to wine-making. Two large geological areas coexist in Côtes de Provence: one, to the north and West, is calcareous and the other is crystalline, to the south and east. The entire northern and Western zones of Côtes de Provence are made up of alternating hills and limestone ridges sculpted by erosion. Further east, facing the sea, sit the crystalline Maures and Tanneron Mountain Ranges. This crystal series is formed in part of eruptive rocks.

VINIFICATION

The grapes have been harvested mechanically in September. Destemming – Maceration during 6 to 8 hours – Pressing and fermentation in thermo regulated stainless steel vats. Estate bottled.

TASTING NOTE

A shiny robe with peach color and silver shades. Delicate nose with a smooth minerality, red berries and pepper and subtle notes of spices. The mouthfeel is, at the same time, full and smooth, with delicate aromas, rose notes and a long finish..

GRAPES VARIETIES

Grenache & Syrah

1 star : 2018

Silver Medal : 2018

Château
HENRI BONNAUD